

Austrian Reining Futurity & NRHA Show 2020:
Next Deadline for Entries: August 3, 2020
Trial run has been highly successful in every way

The preparations for the Austrian Reining Futurity 2020 (Wiener Neustadt, 19 to 22 August 2020) are in full swing in every respect. The show office is struggling through the multitude of entries and the trial run in the form of the first show this year in Wiener Neustadt has worked out perfectly. Now the next entry deadline is close: until August 3, horses can be entered for the $57,000-added event with a late entry fee of 50 percent. After that, a 100 percent late entry fee will be due. The final deadline for entries is August 18.

"Our first show this year went off without a hitch," says host Helmut Schulz. "The crush was huge - every day could have taken 36 hours, as there were so many riders and horses. The COVID 19 requirements were perfectly met. There were no problems whatsoever, especially since social distancing is no problem at our facility. The catering also went very well." Very good experiences could be made with the new video wall, where sponsors and partners can present themselves during the Futurity. Information about the various possibilities and technical details can be obtained from Gerda Langer.

According to the current status of COVID 19 regulations, nothing should stand in the way of a successful Futurity. In August, the allowed number of visitors in Austria is currently set at 500. The reiners' enthusiasm is unbroken in any case. Helmut Schulz estimates that there will be at least as many entries as last year: "German riders and horses are very strongly represented, but entries from Italy are also coming in continuously." Helmut Schulz asks all persons who are not directly involved in the show to refrain from a personal visit. The whole show can be followed via livestream.
